IN NURSING. A Resource Manual and Guidelines for. Alternative and Disciplinary Monitoring Programs. © 2011 National Council of State Boards of Nursing, Inc. (NCSBN®). The manual also contains key research findings, guidelines and program recommendations and provides examples of model contracts, forms and reports. An extensive body of scientific evidence shows that approaching addictions as a treatable illness is extremely effective financially and across the broader societal impacts. When treatments for nurses are individually tailored to meet their needs and an appropriate supportive monitoring system is in place, then recovering nurses are not impaired and can practice safely. Nursing Research: Generating and Assessing Evidence for Nursing Practice, 10th Edition has been updated to incorporate new methodological advances and, to the extent possible, substantive examples used to illustrate concepts will be from articles published in 2013 to 2015. The organizational structure introduced in the 9th edition will be maintained i.e., content focusing on quantitative research will be in Part III, and content on qualitative research will be in Part IV. Preface This Resource Manual for the 10th edition of Nursing Research: Generating and Assessing Evidence for Nursing Practice complements and strengthens the textbook in important ways. Nursing diagnosis is a clinical judgment about individual, family, or community responses to actual and potential health problems / life processes. Nursing diagnoses provide the basis for selection of nursing interventions to achieve outcomes for which the nurse is accountable. Although nurses work within the nursing, medical, and psychosocial domains, nursing’s phenomena of concern are patterns of human response, not disease processes. Nursing interventions are prescriptions for specific behaviors expected from the patient, and actions to be carried out by nurses. The expectation is that the prescribed behavior /actions will benefit the patient and /or significant other(s) in a predictable way, related to the identified problem /need and chosen outcomes.
