Anne & Scope

JITEJ is a peer-reviewed journal, focuses on international economics, economic development and, more importantly, the interface between trade and development. The links between trade and development economics are critical at times when both fluctuating commodity prices and trade liberalisation and agreements can radically affect the economies of the countries.

JITEJ aims to meet the needs of international and development economists, economic historians, applied economists and policy makers. The international experts who make up the Editorial Board encourage contributions from economists worldwide.

Notes for Contributors
All submissions should be made online at the journal’s website.

Author’s name should appear on the first page of the manuscript. Furthermore, to assist objective, the author should avoid any reference to him or herself which would enable identification by referees. Authors should normally be as concise as possible. The difficulty and expense involved in making alterations at the page proof stage is considerable. Authors are therefore encouraged to ensure that their manuscripts are meticulously typed.

Once a manuscript is accepted, the author should be responsible for obtaining any required copyright permission. Authors should therefore consult their publishers before submitting any acknowledgment.

Books for review can be sent to either D.E.A. Giles or P.M. Sgro (Deakin University, Australia) or P.M. Sgro (University of Victoria, Canada).

For any other matters presented not covered by the above notes, please refer to the usual custom and practice as indicated by the last few issues of the Journal.
International trade - Economic integration: The economic integration of several countries or states may take a variety of forms. The term covers preferential tariffs, free-trade associations, customs unions, common markets, economic unions, and full economic integration. The parties to a system of preferential tariffs levy lower rates of duty on imports from one another than they do on imports from third countries.Â Development of a common agricultural policy. Toward a harmonization of policies. The European Union.Â Although economic integration occurred before political unification, it would not have been possible had not many difficulties been swept away by irresistible pressure from Prussia with its military victories.
