The comic book I’m talking about is about this one T. rex-like dinosaur being frozen in a cryopod after trying to rejoin his father on Earth, who was holding off some sort of black ooze from getting to the other dinosaurs. The dinosaurs were evacuating earth to escape from this black ooze. Eventually, humans dig up the remains of the battle and the cryopod. The group of humans want to excavate a fuel source from that area, and have hired or have forced a doctor to help them.
